Application form – Minor Field Studies

Form 1/4: Project proposal – Cover page

Name of applicant:

Personal number of applicant:

1. Write your project proposal in English. In text only. You may use up to 1500 words. Any text exceeding the word limit will not be taken into account. Focus on the research question and research methodology in order to show the feasibility of your project.
2. Applicants who can link their projects to an ongoing research project at their department or departmental cooperation project will be given preference in the evaluation process. Please indicate if and how your application meets this criteria in your project proposal.
3. Add your list of references and any tables, images etc. as attachments. They do not count toward your maximum word count.
4. Your proposal should clearly indicate
  - Your research question.
  - The academic relevance.
  - Relevant previous research in the field.
  - Your intended research methodology. Turn to your department for references to relevant methods.
  - Detailed timeline for the entire project.
  - What are the visa requirements for the country you wish to visit during your field study? Is a research permit required and has that process been included in your timeline?
  - Please describe how you would go about changing your project plan if it needs revision while in the field. What are your alternatives and resources available? (contact with academic supervisor, contact in the field, laboratory equipment, alternative interviewees, reconfiguration of survey material etc.)
  - Ethical considerations. Is an ethical permit required?
5. Merge your project proposal and attachments with this cover page into one PDF file.
6. Upload the PDF to your online application.
